

JR. RANGER PROGRAM

What is a Junior Ranger?

Junior Rangers can be thought of as potential Park Rangers in training. This nationwide program is designed to not only familiarize children with the duties and responsibilities of a park ranger, but also to spark an interest in the whole family for the resources and stories each National Park Service area preserves.

How can you become a Junior Ranger?

At Bryce Canyon National Park, our Junior Rangers must successfully complete two tasks:

1. Learn about the park by exploring the park museum, attending a presentation or hike given by a Park Ranger, or watching the park movie.
2. Work through an activity booklet completing an age appropriate number of activities. Upon completing these requirements, Junior Ranger candidates must return to the Visitor Center where they will be inducted as Junior Rangers and receive a free badge. Other unique Junior Ranger souvenirs are available for purchased from the park bookstore.

Download the Bryce Canyon Junior Ranger book here:

www.nps.gov/brca/learn/kidsyouth/beajuniorranger.htm

You can download the Bryce Canyon Junior Ranger book and get started as soon as you arrive to the park. Printed copies of the book are also available at the visitor center

RUBYSINN.COM